- Kenny Ogilvie, Chairman and CEO; EHS Support Inc.

Session 6: How to Build Business Acumen for EHS Staff Caribbean 6-8
EHS professionals must be able to speak the language of finance and understand their business to advance their efforts. This session will look at how companies have expanded their EHS impact and improved internal collaboration with business leaders by having a broader view of how the company operates financially versus functionally. Come and hear answers to questions like: What mindset prompts executives to provide support for EHS initiatives? What results have speakers seen when they have increased their EHS team's business acumen? What should EHS professionals do to develop this acumen for themselves and their teams? What is the current research in academia saying about EHS impact and return-on-investment (ROI)?

Speakers:
- James Bero, Retired Senior Vice President of EHS; BASF SE
- Kevin Eckerle, Director of Corporate Research and Engagement; Stern Business School - New York University
- Alison Medbery, Vice President Finance; Ball Aerospace

Moderator:
- Dennis Hu, Director, Environmental Health and Safety and System Safety Engineering; Ball Aerospace

Session 7: Delivering More Value with Fewer Resources Caribbean 5
Nobody should count on "doing more with less" as a viable strategy for meeting the challenges of reduced budgets and resources but that's what we are often asked to do. This session will be a facilitated discussion with your peers who are facing these constraints. We will share approaches for delivering more value, redesigning processes to be more efficient, leveraging mutually beneficial partnerships and other ways to not only survive in challenging times, but to thrive in them. Bring your own tactics and approaches, along with questions about resource challenges you are facing.

Speakers:
- Monica Alston, Director EHS & Customer Experience Lead; Comcast Corp.
- Amy Ebersole-Martinez, Safety and Environmental Manager; Petco Animal Supplies Inc.
- Mike Miller, Vice President, Risk Management & Safety; Advance Auto Parts Inc.
